

WALT name the continents and oceans of the world and locate them on a map.

We have learnt a little bit about rainforests, animals that live there and deforestation. The biggest rainforest is the Amazon and it is in the continent South America.

Can you remember how many continents there are? What are they called?
How many oceans are there? What are they called?

Listen to these songs that we have heard before in school to remind you.
Make sure you sing along!

Remember to ask your grownups permission to view these

Fancy an extra challenge?

You could learn the continent or ocean song off by heart or you could make up your own song to help you to remember the names of the continents and oceans.

If you would like us to hear it, you could take a video of yourself performing it and add it to Seesaw.

Remember to check with your grown up before you do this.
