

Science: WALT identify and classify things.

You will need: lots of the same thing that can be sorted into different groups.

They must all look different to each other.

You will also need paper- one big piece or lots of little pieces.

Ideas...

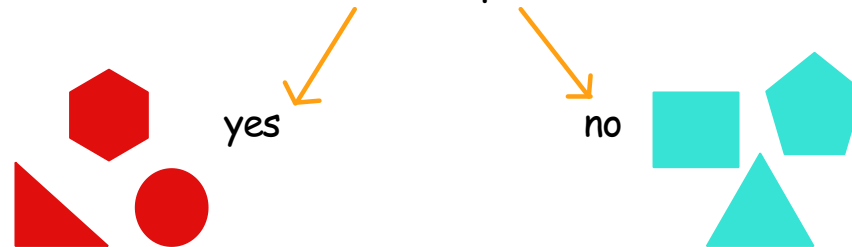

organise things. Sometimes they are used in magazines for fun!

Notice that it always uses questions that have to be answered yes or no.

You would carry on going until each item is on its own. You could group by size, shape, how it feels etc.

Each question should split the group in half.

Is the shape red?

You can put the actual object at the end of your flowchart.

Have fun. We can't wait to see what you come up with!
